IT'S GREAT

To be the youngest in a family of twelve-all living. It's a bit scary for some of the older ones.

Lord Byron -

So you are a dominator of women, eh? I'm a dominator of men. At $50 hr. do you get much business? I'm glad to see STM alive and well - sometimes I wonder about the future of
extreme sexuality,
considering the strong
move towards the right in this country. I've never heard of The American Forum but am happy to see it exercise its right to freedom of speech.

So what do you want
from me? Send a picture of yourself if you are able to. Have you heard any of my music?

Deblie / MSR

My Dear Friend,.

My main reason for contacting you was the feeling on my part that we open a line of communication. I never knew that I had a female counterpart. Should you ever feel the desire to be dominated and put in the place that all women belong, slavery, just let me know. I will be more than happy to be of assistance to you.

In a future issue of AMERICANS HIT the first photo of LORD BYRON will appear.

Christine Louisy-Daniel
Dear Collector:
The Emerging Collector is a unique, new art gallery located on Second Avenue in the East Village.

Unlike the traditional gallery, the Emerging Collector has devised a new concept to better bring together the creative artist and the art viewing public. For example, rather than hanging the select few works of a few artists, each three weeks we present an exhibition featuring as many as 400 works by 100 artists. Both artists and paintings change frequently. In our gallery, a wide spectrum of artist's work is on view.

PRESS RELEASE

NEW YORK - The Emerging Collector announces the installation of a major, painted, steel sculptural work by Linus Corraggio, one of New York's leading artists. "We are thrilled to have it," says Christine Louisy-Daniel, owner of The Emerging Collector. "It is shown outside the gallery, along with the work of two other prominent 'outside' East Village artists - the stone sculptor, Ken Hiratsuka and the painter, Amie Charmick."
